

Introduction

PSC Financial (referred to as “we” or “us”) is registered with the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) as an investment adviser. Brokerage and investment advisory services and fees differ, and it is important for you to understand the differences. Free and simple tools are available to research firms and financial professionals at Investor.gov/CRS, which also provides educational materials about broker-dealers, investment advisers, and investing.

What investment services and advice can you provide me?

We offer investment advisory services to retail investors. These services include asset management services, advisory programs offered by third-party advisors, financial planning services, and retirement plan consulting. When we provide asset management services, we manage your investments after we work with you to understand your financial situation, goals, objectives and risk tolerance. We primarily use the following investment types; mutual funds, exchange-traded funds, and equity and fixed income securities. We manage accounts on an ongoing basis. We will monitor your account at least annually, or more frequently upon request or if market conditions warrant. We manage your accounts on a discretionary basis if you have provided us with discretionary authority in our investment advisory agreement. The discretionary authority will remain in place until one of us terminates our relationship. If you choose non-discretionary services, we will recommend transactions to you, but you will make the ultimate decision regarding the purchase or sale of investments. We do not have any account minimums to establish or maintain an account. Certain of the advisory programs offered through third-party advisors have account minimums.

➤ QUESTIONS TO ASK YOUR FINANCIAL PROFESSIONAL:

- Given my financial situation, should I choose an investment advisory service? Why or why not?
- How will you choose investments to recommend to me?
- What is your relevant experience, including licenses, education and other qualifications? What do these qualifications mean?

What fees will I pay?

We typically charge an asset-based advisory fee that is a percentage of your account, including cash holdings. Our fees are negotiable. We charge advisory fees quarterly in advance and you pay us this fee even if there are no transactions in your account. We have an incentive to increase the value of your account over time which will increase our fees.

The custodian that holds your assets will charge you a transaction charge when we buy or sell an investment for you. These transaction charges are in addition to our advisory fee. For certain securities, there are no transaction charges. If we engage in frequent trading and there are transaction charges, you will pay more in transaction charges and this will negatively impact your account performance and increase the overall cost of your account. In certain limited situations, you will not pay transaction charges, but we will pay the transaction charges to the custodian. This creates a conflict of interest and financial incentive for us to avoid transactions in your account or to place trades less frequently, and we will consider these transaction charges when we determine the level of your advisory fee.

Regardless of who pays the transaction charges, you will also incur, as applicable, charges imposed by the custodian or another third-party including, but not limited to: custodian fees; retirement account maintenance fees; fees related to mutual funds and exchange-traded funds; and other transactional fees and product-level fees.

You will pay fees and costs whether you make or lose money on your investments. Fees and costs will reduce any amount of money you make on your investments over time. Please make sure you understand what fees and costs you are paying.

➤ QUESTIONS TO ASK YOUR FINANCIAL PROFESSIONAL:

- Help me understand how these fees and costs might affect my investments. If I give you $10,000 to invest, how much will go to fees and costs, and how much will be invested for me?

What are your legal obligations to me when acting as my investment adviser? How else does your firm make money and what conflicts of interest do you have?

When we act as your investment adviser, we have to act in your best interest and not put our interest ahead of yours. At the same time, the way we make money creates some conflicts with your interests. You should understand and ask us about these conflicts because they can affect the investment advice we provide you. Here are two examples to help you understand what this means.

Some of our Financial Professionals are registered representatives of LPL Financial LLC (“LPL”), an SEC registered broker-dealer and investment adviser. Your Financial Professional may offer you brokerage services through LPL or investment advisory services through PSC Financial, LLC. Brokerage services and investment advisory services are different, and the fees we, and LPL, charge for those services are different. It is important that you understand the differences. In particular, your Financial Professional may earn additional transaction-based compensation and have additional conflicts of interest as a result of providing brokerage services through LPL. You are encouraged to learn more about LPL by reviewing <https://www.lpl.com/disclosures.html> and having a discussion with your Financial Professional.

There is a conflict of interest regarding rollovers if you are a participant in an employer-sponsored retirement plan and request help from us when deciding whether to liquidate and withdraw funds from your plan and rollover the proceeds into an IRA. A conflict exists because we will only be compensated if you rollover the proceeds into an account that we manage. Therefore, we have a financial incentive to recommend one option over another.
